

February Artist of the Month

JoAnn Reiter

JoAnn "Paz" Reiter became interested in photography at 12 years old when she received her very first camera, a Kodak 60 second automatic developer. She still has it with the original case and even some bulbs. The only thing missing is the glossy stick for the black and white photos. JoAnn continued to explore photography throughout her teens and then in college decided to take photography so that she could develop her own. She bought a 2 1/4 twin lens reflex camera and never used any other format. As the years have gone by she has turned to digital cameras. She prints and frames her own works.

Although most of her new work is in color, she still feels black and white photography is indeed more colorful. She finds that B & W captures moods and helps the mind wander more with intrigue. Currently JoAnn has a line of photo note cards that she sells as well as her 8 1/2 x 11's.
